SILVANA DELLA CAMERA PHOTOGRAPHY

Coming up this Saturday, January 11th, 2025 from 3:30-5 pm EST, I will be presenting "The Infrared Zone" via Zoom for members of NYMACC and all interested photographers. If you would like to join us, please register via this link and be sure to use the Infrared Zone Registration section on the page. It's free! The Zoom link will be emailed to registrants on Wednesday morning. What is the "Infrared Zone"? It's all about infrared photography with a digital camera.

The latest post is a 2025 celestial happenings listing to help give you an overview of upcoming notable events to plan for and photograph. Link below.

For those who have purchased Night Shades, it would be appreciated if you could take a moment to leave me a review on my website. I'd really welcome a review and hearing your thoughts on it. You don't have to write an essay, and if you aren't comfortable writing a blurb, clicking a star rating only takes seconds, and those can be just as helpful. Your feedback is valuable to me. Night Shades - A Guide to Photography After Dark. Click on "Review "in the center of the page. Thank you! (Although it will require your email address, it is not publicly displayed). Thank you kindly to those who have already left a review!

In the next couple of weeks, details for a Cape Cod Lighthouse Crawl, a two-day workshop in Maine, another two-day workshop on Cape Cod, new photo walks, and more will be coming your way.

Clear skies!

2025 Celestial Happenings

At the beginning of the year, I load up my calendar with the celestial happenings that are coming up. These include planet events, lunar and solar eclipses, meteor showers, expected comets, Moon phases, and Milky Way core visibility. Interspersed with these events there are delightful surprises, like a juicy CME gracing our skies with aurora or a comet unexpectedly coming ...

A Look Back at 2024

Time. A simple word that has speed that ever increases. I feel like I just posted A Look Back at 2023 and here I am again, now looking back at 2024. Yikes! We don't often ponder all the moments we experience in a year until we look back at the photos accumulated during the 365/6 days. These frozen instants become ...

Photographing Winter Magic: From Snowflakes to Night Skies

Winter offers spectacular, delicate beauty to be photographed. The challenge for photographing winter is not the cold temperatures but the fleeting window to acquire a successful capture. Snowfall can quickly become a salt inundated mess (a notorious scene here in New England) so time is of the essence to photograph it. Wind can quickly strip the trees bare of their ...
